McCausey Laminated Plank is made from a good grade, uniformly dried, clear pattern lumber. Manufacturing begins with ripping, planing, chopping and finger-jointing strips to an oversized plank. The strips are face-glued and pressed together to form an oversized plank, which is then trimmed and smoothed to exact dimensions.

McCausey has excellent sources for the raw materials used in our laminated planks. Our laminating sources have had many years of experience in providing laminated lumber that offers quality with time savings and a very competitive price.

Pine Laminated Plank is made from 100% Sugar Pine, a very good wood pattern lumber workable by hand or machine.

Alder Laminated Plank is a North American hardwood. Dense and fine-grained, it is excellent for long-lasting patterns with fine detail. It could be used as an alternative to mahogany.

McCausey offers other rough lumbers, pattern and model supplies, including complementing products for the repair and finishing of project surfaces.
